

Dear Hiring Manager,

I'm writing to express my interest in the Internet Sales Assistant position. I was immediately drawn to this role because it combines customer-facing interaction, technology, and the chance to support small and mid-sized businesses, three things I am very interested by. I'm excited about the opportunity to represent AT&T, educate local business owners on internet solutions, and help deliver reliable, high-quality service that meets their day-to-day needs.

My background in the restaurant industry has shaped the way I work with people. Throughout high school and college, I worked in a busy Asian Fusion restaurant in Jacksonville, Florida. During that time, I often helped new employees, many of whom spoke little English, learn how to navigate our technology systems and customer processes. I loved breaking down complex tasks into simple steps, and helping others feel more confident and capable on the job. That experience made me comfortable explaining tech tools, thinking on my feet, and building trust quickly, skills I believe will transfer seamlessly to working with clients in this role.

I may not have direct experience selling internet services, but I bring a strong ability to connect with others, communicate clearly, and stay adaptable in fast-moving environments. I'm very interested, eager to learn, and motivated to become an expert in the solutions I offer and gain knowledge about. I also understand how important reliable service is to business owners and I'm excited by the chance to be on the frontend of these solutions.

Thank you for considering my application. I'd love to bring my people skills, hospitality background, and passion for tech to your team. Please feel free to reach me at (305)520-9291 or Victoria.v1@icloud.com. I look forward to the opportunity to learn from and contribute to your advanced team.

Best regards,
Victoria Villasana